

Short Biography – Paul Gohlke

Country of origin

Germany

University studies and degree

Since January 2016 member of the IRTG “Baltic Borderlands” as PhD student at the University of Greifswald.

Subject: “Seventeenth Century Protestant Piety within and beyond confessional borders. Heinrich Müller's relevance for theological and social history issues in the Baltic Sea region.”

2006 – 2013 teacher training German language and Protestant Religion at the University of Greifswald

2014 – 2015 research assistant, counsellor at the Theological Faculty, University of Greifswald

Field of research

Devotion and Piety in the 17th century; Borders of Confession; medieval and early modern mystic; cultural impacts of the Reformation (esp. in arts and media)